The Aida International website contains basic information about this organization along with webpages on freedive disciplines, rules, etc.

There are helpful document downloads such as Aida governance documents as well as judge materials.

There is also a new special feature the "Community" section . Here, the member can register and open an account similar to facebook. You can post videos, photos, invite friends, and establish groups.